How to use this pack

Fifty prompts, five sections, one rule: fill in the [brackets] with your own details. Every prompt works in the free versions of ChatGPT, Claude and Gemini. Where a prompt says 'paste', paste your real text - the more real detail you give, the better the result.

Section 1 - Email (1-10)

- 1 Draft a professional email to [person] about [topic]. Tone: warm, direct, under 120 words.
- 2 Reply to this email saying no, without burning the relationship: [paste email]
- 3 Rewrite this email so it leads with the request instead of burying it: [paste email]
- 4 Turn these bullet points into a polished email: [paste points]
- 5 Write a follow-up to an email that got no reply after a week. Keep it light, one paragraph: [paste original]
- 6 Draft an apology email for [what happened] that takes responsibility without over-explaining.
- 7 Write a cold email introducing my [business/service] to [type of person]. Max 100 words, one clear ask.
- 8 Summarise this long email thread and tell me exactly what I'm being asked to do: [paste thread]
- 9 Make this email sound like a human wrote it, not a robot: [paste email]
- 10 Write an out-of-office reply for [dates] that tells people who to contact instead.

Section 2 - Summaries & reading (11-20)

- 1 Summarise this in 5 bullets, then give me the single most important sentence: [paste]
- 2 I have 2 minutes. What do I absolutely need to know from this? [paste]

- 3 Compare these two documents and list where they disagree: [paste both]
- 4 Extract every date, deadline, amount and name from this text into a table: [paste]
- 5 Summarise this report separately for: my boss, my team, and a customer. [paste]
- 6 What questions should I ask after reading this? [paste]
- 7 Turn this article into 3 talking points I can use in a meeting: [paste]
- 8 Read this contract section and explain my obligations in plain English: [paste]
- 9 List the action items in this text, each with who owns it: [paste]
- 10 Give me the argument this text is making, and the strongest argument against it: [paste]

Section 3 - Planning (21-30)

- 1 Here are my tasks: [list]. Sort them into urgent/important quadrants and tell me what to do first.
- 2 Build me a realistic schedule for tomorrow. Fixed events: [list]. Tasks: [list]. Include breaks.
- 3 Break this big goal into weekly milestones for the next [n] weeks: [goal]
- 4 I keep postponing [task]. Break it into steps so small that the first one takes 5 minutes.
- 5 Plan an agenda for a [length] meeting about [topic]. Include timings and the decision we must leave with.
- 6 What am I forgetting? I'm planning [event/project] and so far I have: [list]
- 7 Turn this to-do list into a checklist ordered by dependency - what must happen before what: [list]
- 8 Create a simple weekly review template I can fill in every Friday in under 10 minutes.

9 I have [n] hours free this weekend and these pending tasks: [list]. What's the highest-value use of the time?

10 Estimate how long each of these tasks realistically takes, then tell me what doesn't fit this week: [list]

Section 4 - Reports & documents (31-40)

1 Turn these rough notes into a structured report with headings and a summary at the top: [paste]

2 Write a one-page progress update on [project]: what's done, what's next, what's blocked.

3 Draft the introduction and conclusion for a report about [topic]. I'll write the middle.

4 Make this document half the length without losing any decisions or numbers: [paste]

5 Create a template I can reuse every month for [type of report].

6 Rewrite this so a non-technical reader understands it: [paste]

7 Check this document for inconsistencies - numbers, dates, names that don't match: [paste]

8 Write an executive summary of this in exactly 3 sentences: [paste]

9 Turn this data into 3 insights with a recommendation for each: [paste data]

10 Draft meeting minutes from these rough notes, with decisions and action items separated: [paste]

Section 5 - Thinking & deciding (41-50)

1 I need to decide between [option A] and [option B]. Argue for each one properly, then tell me what you'd probe further.

2 Play devil's advocate against this plan of mine, hard: [describe plan]

- 3 What are the second-order consequences of [decision] that I might not be seeing?
- 4 Ask me 5 questions, one at a time, that will help me get unstuck on [problem].
- 5 Here's my situation: [describe]. Give me 3 options: the safe one, the bold one, and the creative one.
- 6 Steelman the position I disagree with: [describe the position].
- 7 I think [belief]. What evidence would change my mind, and does it exist?
- 8 Help me say no to [request] in a way that protects the relationship.
- 9 List the assumptions hidden in this plan, riskiest first: [paste plan]
- 10 Pretend you are my future self, one year from now. What do you wish I had started today?
